

A message from PSEG's Vice President and Chief Security Officer

MICHAEL S. PASZYNSKY

PSEG's strong commitment to protecting the people, critical infrastructure and assets of New Jersey's largest, and the country's most reliable utility, drives our organization to continually seek solutions to an ever-broadening, and unique set of security challenges.

PSEG Corporate Security prides itself on being best-in-class. What does that mean to us and, more importantly, what does it mean for you? It means . . .

- There is a dedicated, fully committed staff to provide round-the-clock protection services and reduce security risks at PSEG.
- Continually striving for excellence in all dimensions of security, and being recognized, by government and peer industry groups, as having done so.
- Being ever vigilant of emerging security issues by working closely with government and industry groups, such as the NJ Office of Homeland Security & Preparedness, the NJ Board of Public Utilities, the FBI's Joint Terrorism Task Force, NERC, PJM and, of course, the NJ State Police and numerous local law enforcement agencies in the 300+ municipalities in which PSEG operates.
- Being a leader in, or represented on, key security and industry organizations, helping to mold future direction, contributing expertise to new legislation and regulations, and benchmarking for continuous improvement.

These are just a few of the many ways we are working to keep our Associates, our facilities, and our operations secure. At the end of each business day, Corporate Security gains another notch or two in its journey to preclude any event wherein service to PSEG's customers is ever interrupted by an adversary.
