

We're making a lot of long-term investments in green energy.
She's one of them.

As our industry faces huge environmental challenges and potential shortages of skilled utility workers, we at PSEG (NYSE: PEG) are busy building our “green collar” workforce. We’ve already hired more than 80% of the graduates from the Energy Utility Technology Degree program we pioneered five years ago. Recently, a course in Alternative Energy Sources was added. We’re also helping to create a Green Energy Academy for high school students and nuclear energy programs on the college level. The most important factor in our ability to deliver results to our shareholders has always been our employees. And we’re making sure they always will be. To learn more, visit pseg.com.

PSEG
We make things work for you.